WASHINGTON March 30

By Ingalls At Grogan the ...

Cockrell moved to refer his bill for a Brazil line of mail steamships to the postal committee ... commerce

Beck said that this was only a disguised subsidy ... prejudicial to the commerce ... interests of the country motion defeated

The bill for a centennial celebration at New York 1883, after Carpenter and Eaton had opposed it as unconstitutional and Kernan and Wallace had advocated it went over and the immediate deficiency bill was considered

Edmunds asked an explanation about public printing

Eaton refused to make changes against that officer

Edmunds said that if the public printer was under some action was necessary He did not believe it.

The committee amendment reducing the house appropriation from $400 000 to $300 000 was agreed to also amendments reducing the appropriation for internal revenue fees salaries etc from $3... 000 to $313 000

When the clause making an appropriation of $50 000 for completing the codification of public land laws by a commission on that subject was reached Teller gave his views as to the usefulness of the work of that commission as shown in their recent report. The codification of laws was a good thing, but it was not a good thing to overturn the whole old land system. The classification of different kinds was a good thing, but it could be done without great expense It was best to let the commission go on and complete its work though if the bill they proposed should be passed it would render continuation of the present laws needless for it will throw them all out of existence.

The Agreement in the Kellogg and Butler Cases.

Ex Senator Dorsey, who had more to do with the fixing of the arrangement by the senate in 1877 than any other man says that it was positively agreed and understood by all concerned that both Kellogg and Butler were to be seated and remain undisturbed until the end of their terms This condition was made by the democrats because Kellogg's title had been investigated by the committee on elections and pronounced good while Butler was admitted merely on his credentials.

Secretary Evarts Favors Holding Venezuela to Her Contract.

Secretary Evarts' report on the Venezuelan claims, submitted to congress to-day, opposes the abrogation of the Venezuelan awards and the substitution of a commission to re-examine them because justice to Venezuela does not demand it and justice to injured Americans demands that we hold Venezuela to the present agreement, and compel payment as just as the financial resources of Venezuela will permit Congress should determine whether to undertake coercive steps or decide which of the awards it will insist upon, and which give up.

Confirmations and Rejections

The senate to-day confirmed Bret Harte consul at Glasgow, Henry C Marston of Illinois, at Malaga, W P Mangum of North Carolina, at Tientsin Paul Lange of Iowa, at Larochelle, H A Conant of Michigan, at Naples. Supervisor of census, A L Thomas of Utah territory Census supervisors in the 8th Illinois and the 3d Iowa districts were rejected.

The Mail Company Equivocates.

The Pacific Mail Steamship company has filed a paper with the senate judiciary committee declaring that no contract had been signed between it and the Pacific railroads with reference to the matter upon which an investigation has been ordered and that accordingly it has no existence in fact.

Senator Bailey, who introduced the resolution asking for investigation, said this evening that if what is asserted by the steamship company shall turn out true, of course there could be no legislation prohibiting that which does not exist

A Bad Showing

The regular monthly statement of the bureau of statistics show that the balance of trade in favor of the United States that has been kept up so long is falling off from $29-500 000 in 1879 to only $4 250 000 in 1880 During the twelve months ending with February the falling off was over $92 000 000 or about one-third

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION

The Citizens Ticket Probably Elected

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

SAN FRANCISCO March 30—At ... A M the total vote of the city was ... against ... at the same hour of the state election last September This indicates a light vote which is generally to be considered favorable to the workingmen On the other hand it is noticeable that as compared with the same hour at the last election heavy citizens wards such as the sixth, eighth and twelfth have cast a larger relative vote than the seventh ninth tenth and eleventh which are the workingmen's strong holds The workingmen claim that between 12 and 1 they will swell their record materially

At 12 in the vote cast was 18 81... 5 000 short of the vote at the same hour at the last election At this rate less than 35 000 votes will be polled Against the probability of a light vote favoring the workingmen is the fact that owing to a difference in the tint of paper, the character of ballots can be known as they lie in the boxes, and those who have been on watch claim that the citizens union ticket is ahead even in some strong workingmen s precincts There is not much talk of scratching, though more or less is being done Thus far the election has been the quietest ever held in the city An analysis of the vote up to this hour shows that while strong citizens wards are voting up to within one eighth to one-sixth of their vote at the same hour last September workingmen s precincts are one quarter to one-third behind

Before the Count—The Total Vote

SAN FRANCISCO March 30 —The total vote of the city except two small outside precincts is 30,667 Since noon the workingmen s wards have pulled up somewhat and at the close it is found that nearly all the wards are about twenty five per cent below the vote of last September The tenth a strong workingmen s precinct has fallen somewhat short of that proportion, and the twelfth an equally strong citizens' ward runs a little over There seems to be a general belief that the citizens' union have elected all their candidates, though the outlook is less favorable reasoning from totals of the various wards than earlier in the day

A Flimsy Technicality

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 —The workingmen have filed a protest against counting the ballots of the citizens' union on account of a difference in tint claiming that their own ballots were printed on legal paper obtained from the secretary of state, while the ballots of their opponents are not in conformity with the law, differing in color, weight and texture of paper

The Citizens Ahead

The vote so far as counted at 8 30 P M gave the citizens ticket 3241 and the working men 1982 Many precincts have not yet commenced counting

San Mateo Goes Republican

SAN MATEO, March 30 —Byrnes republican, has about 100 majority in the county for joint senator

Talk about the Ballot Paper.

Much comment is excited by the variation before noted in the ballot paper. It is known that men have been stationed at polling places during the day to take notes of the color of the ballot and the persons voting them and the workingmen charge that the citizens union put up the job purposely to enable them to exercise surveillance over voters in violation of the election laws One report is that an employe of the secretary of state s office was made use of to secure the desired difference in ballot paper There seems good ground for a contest over the matter, and many hold that the ballots are not in accordance with the law and can be thrown out giving the election to the workingmen

WEDNESDAY MORNING MARCH 188

EDUCATION AND CRIME

We the general ews stated by Prof Powell in his communication on Education vs. Crime The OREGONIAN fully agrees There is no doubt that he quotes statistics correctly though from some of his conclusions we should probably dissent A vast proportion of the crimes which he saw for bids and so shed particularly the petty crimes are committed by persons who are unable to read and write These persons are not however in all cases criminals because they are illiterate but for the most part are illiterate because they are the bad and worthless stuff of which criminals are made It is well to take into account this side of the case, so as not to confound cause with effect. There are numbers who can not and will not receive education even in its elementary forms and when offered them free Such of course in consequence of an incurable defect of nature are almost sure to grow up in idleness and vice Thus their criminal character comes from the same source as their illiteracy namely a natural worthlessness and depravity which society has as yet found no means to cure While therefore statistics show that a person who can not read and write is six times as likely to commit crimes as one who is educated the converse is also true that a person who is by nature vicious lazy fond of herding and sotting with low and idle company and who on general principles is of little or no account will not accept education even when it is offered without money and without price and becomes a criminal for about the same reason that he refuses education And in every community and especially in the cities there is a pretty steady percentage or proportion of this class Hence from a course different from that pursued by Prof Powell we reach another side of the connection between illiteracy and crime Of both illiteracy and crime some of the causes are implanted in certain natures their sources are identical And as yet no means have been found to eradicate them Of course there are illiterate persons who do no commit crimes, but are industrious, quiet and useful people. On the other hand the greatest criminals are almost always educated persons. But these exceptions on either side prove no general rule. They do show however, that while illiteracy is not always the mother of vice, education cannot always be depended on as the support of virtue Petty crimes in great numbers are committed by illiterate persons while monstrous crimes requiring coolness courage deliberation, ingenuity, power of combination and provision of consequences are in nearly all cases the work of those who have received a considerable degree of education, or who often are highly educated Therefore while we talk of the relation between illiteracy and crime, we must not make the mistake of relying on education as a sure safeguard of morality and virtue It depends a great deal on what the education is, and chiefly on the training of the home. It is not in our schools, but in our homes, where youth are chiefly moulded for virtuous or prepared for vicious lives We place too much value on these agencies of schools and societies, and not enough on the far more important influences of home training Our temperance societies are well enough, but it is not through them but through our homes that intemperance is to be checked, our schools are well enough, but it is not through them but through our homes that the youth of the land are to be bred to self-reliant, useful and virtuous lives.

The education afforded by the state may be and should be, and no doubt to a great extent is, an aid to virtue, but it is not its best defense, nor can be till men cease to pervert best things to worst abuse, or to their mean est use. And it is a mistake to suppose that if a general system of public education, through which instruction is afforded in the elementary branches of knowledge, produce a given quantity of virtue and happiness among a people, more education by the state will produce more virtue and happiness, in like ratio The error is based on the assumption that perfection in this matter is obtainable by invoking the fullest exercise of the educating power of the state But this error aside the line must be drawn somewhere Should the state take all the children and attempt to give them a collegiate or university education? Should the state take any of them who may desire it and train them in special schools for the bar, the pulpit or the professions, for commerce, for agriculture or for handicraft? These may be called essentials But why stop at essentials? Why not instruct in esthetics, which may and do minister largely to virtue and happiness? Why not the flute and violin, wax and paper flowers, and virtuosoship in general? All these conduce to the happiness of the people, and the state, gentle mother, ought to care for all The proposition thus becomes ridiculous The duty of the state in the premises must be limited by some general principle, by some clearly defined law, by some unmistakable line of demarcation There is no controversy as to the utility and necessity of a system of education supported by the state The question is as to its proper limits No argument showing the connection between illiteracy and crime is necessary to convince the public judgment of the utility of common schools But there are some common deductions from that argument which may lead to error One of these is that when crime is committed by an uneducated person the want of education is necessarily the cause of it, when in fact the illiteracy and the crime usually have their common origin in the nature of the individual and another is the notion that education, if made general will abolish crime nearly or altogether and that the higher the education the greater the security against criminal conduct. Education by the state is for general purposes The state has no right to carry any scheme of education beyond the point where it will serve the whole people by contributing to their welfare and advancement

Yesterday an election was held in San Francisco In compliance with a requirement of the new constitution of the state fifteen persons were elected to constitute a board to prepare a new charter for the city A state senator was also elected to fill a vacancy resulting from the ineligibility of one of the senators chosen at the general election of last year

The sagacity of George Peabody in bestowing his benefactions is made increasingly evident by each annual report of the fund he established in London His bequests of $750 000 in 1862 $500 000 in 1866 $500 000 in 1868 and $750 000 in 1873 aggregating a principal of $2 500 000 has been increased by rents and interest to more than $3 500 000

A Washington special of the 2 th st ies that private dispatches from Texas say that nine of the sixteen delegates chosen by the republicans of that state for the Chicago convention are Blaine men As the convention adopted the unit rule it gives Blaine the entire delegation if that rule is enforced

Gen Grant and the Presidency

CHICAGO, March 29 —The Times Galveston special says General Frisbie an extensive miner in Mexico who came with General Grant says the general told him he hoped the republicans would not nominate him but Frisbie says Grant is a candidate in hope of bettering his civil record

A New York Herald special says There have been reports here for some time past that some of the third term leaders and notably Don Cameron, their chief saw the danger of attempting to force the ex-president on their party and were talking of withdrawing his name from the canvass To these reports is now added a rumor that Mr Cameron and those who are acting with him have resolved to adopt Senator Edmunds as their candidate This rumor is sent you for what it may be worth It is not possible to ascertain whether it is well founded but it has been remarked for a week past that some of the ex president's supporters have begun to talk very favorably of Senator Edmunds and there is no doubt that the third term leaders have seriously considered the advisability of withdrawing Grant's name It is moreover well established that Don Cameron and those acting with him mean to oppose the nomination of Blaine in any contingency and it is understood here that they are hostile to Mr Washburne The ex president is also believed to be opposed for some reason not definitely known here It would seem by those who assume to know to be sufficiently strong to make the third termers insist upon Mr Washburne's nomination

PURITY GUARANTEED!

The Best White Lead now Made in California.

Unequaled for Whiteness and Covering Power, Durability & Fineness.

Do not Confound the WESTERN WHITE LEAD with any Other California Brand. Its Superiority is Beyond Comparison.

The Western White Lead Company have the pleasure to announce the most complete success of their brand of White Lead It is far superior to any other Lead made in California Nothing but the finest material is employed and no care or expense will be spared to maintain its present high standard and reputation

WESTERN WHITE LEAD will not be sold in competition—so far as price is concerned—with inferior brands The manufacturers do not offer "Western Lead as a low priced brand They offer it as the BEST It is, in reality, however, the cheapest even at higher cost, because it will go further, look better and last longer than any other California Lead

WHITE LEAD may be perfectly PURE and yet POOR Unless made from the very finest material, and prepared with the greatest skill and care, it will turn yellow or become otherwise discolored, and will chalk or peel off

Examine work a few months old, which has not been finished with prime Lead, such as "Atlantic or "Western," and these defects will be apparent

CITY.

Appropriated Partnership Funds.—When Eugene Langrey of the firm of Whitlock & Langrey owners of the Central Market restaurant, corner Second and Ash streets, opened his safe yesterday morning he found that every cent of money was gone although $925 had been locked in it the evening before. Some time ago Mr Langrey formed a partnership with Al Whitlock a young man of pleasing address, in whom he had implicit confidence. Whitlock had a key to the safe and as he did not put in an appearance yesterday morning and could not be found up to a late hour last night Langrey charges him with having taken the funds and appropriated them to his own use. Langrey states also that Whitlock has been leading a fast life and that he has put off creditors from time to time as bills were presented during the past month, and did not pay the employes of the restaurant in full so that a considerable sum might accumulate.

Funeral of Commodore Connor.—The San Francisco Alta of the 27th contains the following: "The remains of Commodore Frank Connor arrived here yesterday by the steamship Oregon which he commanded at the time of his death. His funeral services will take place at the Unitarian church on Geary, near Stockton street at 2 P M to-morrow, when Rev W W McKaig of Columbia and Mrs. Hardinge-Britten will officiate, thus affording the late commodore's host of friends an opportunity to attend and pay to his memory a fitting tribute of love and respect. The deceased had commanded steamships on this coast, running constantly between this port and Oregon, since the early part of 1861. Mrs Britten will deliver the funeral address at the church, and Mrs. Mariner Campbell and others will join in the musical part of the service, which it is thought will be very eloquent and deeply impressive."

A Pleasant Affair.—Says the Walla Walla Union: "Last Friday evening the enlisted men of 'M' troop, 1st cavalry, astonished Lieut. and Mrs. Backus by presenting to the former a handsome meerschaum pipe and to the latter a beautiful ice pitcher as tokens of the esteem the men had for them. It is seldom that an officer so conducts himself as to win such testimonials from the enlisted men under his command. Lieut Backus was taken most completely by surprise, but accepted the testimonials gracefully. The occasion of the presentation was the promotion of Lieut. Backus, and his assignment to duty with 'L' troop, at Fort Klamath." Mrs. Lieut. Backus is a daughter of Mr Jacob [illegible] who resided for many years in Portland.

Waived an Examination.—Yesterday forenoon Henry O. Jacobs, who is charged with the crime of arson, was brought before Justice J. W. Davis for examination. The court room was crowded with spectators and parties interested. The prosecution was present with the witnesses in behalf of the state and the district attorney signified his readiness to proceed with the examination. At this juncture Jacobs appeared by his attorney Col W. H. Effinger, and waived examination. Jacobs asked the court to reduce the amount of the bail, in the hope that he might be able to give the required bonds. Justice Davis finally reduced the bail from $5000 to $3000. At last accounts Jacobs had not given bonds and was in the county jail.

Death of Mrs. Fisher.—The friends of Mrs. James W. Fisher will be pained to learn of the death of that estimable lady. Mrs. Fisher departed this life on the 23d inst., at her home in The Dalles. Some months ago Mr. Fisher moved to The Dalles from Astoria with his family in search of a better climate, principally for himself, being subject to attacks of asthma. His wife, who was in feeble health, consumption, failed rapidly after arriving there, and was soon confined to her bed. Mrs. Fisher was a daughter of the late Rev. L. Starkey, of Salem, and was an excellent wife and mother. She leaves a husband and five children, besides many relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

"Grandfather" Entertainment To-Night.—The sale of reserved seats for the musical and dramatic entertainment at New Market theatre to-night has been large and a good house is assured. Each number in the musical portion of the programme is a gem, and in the hands of competent artists. If little Miss O'Connor approaches the excellence in elocution she displayed at St. Patrick's Day celebration, those of the audience who did not hear her on that occasion will have a splendid surprise. The drama 'Grandfather Whitehead' will be a novelty to theater goers, and we predict that it will not be the least interesting portion of the entertainment.

Assessor at Work.—Mr. Geo. C Sears, the county assessor, started out a few days ago in his county to commence the work of assessing the "rural districts". He visited every point on Sauvie's Island before the recent heavy rain storm came up, which compelled him to return to the city. He is here awaiting better weather. As soon as the weather shall have settled a little Mr Sears will visit that portion of the county adjacent to Columbia Slough. Tax-payers in that portion of Multnomah should hold themselves in readiness for the advent of the assessor.

Jurors Dismissed.—Judge Bellinger dismissed all jurors who have been in attendance in the state circuit court for the term Monday afternoon, with the exception of Mr Tom Mountain. The judge remarked that he did not think there would be any other case to be tried by a jury, but, he added, "for fear there might I will not excuse Tom Mountain, as he is lame and cannot run away. If there should be a case where we will require a jury, we will take the captain and 'build up' a jury from the body of the county. And to the order stands."

The Danish Opening Ball.—The ball to be given on the 10th proximo by the Danish society which was recently organized promises to be a recherche affair. The following gentlemen have been appointed committee of arrangements: Frank M Cohn, Wm Henrichsen, P. Blaukholm, Henry A. Meyer and John Ibsen. This will be the first social entertainment of the society, and the gentlemen in charge will spare no pains to make it a grand success.

Locating Mining Claims.—Messrs Wesley Van Schuyver, Geo A. Cran and H D Sanborn, gave due and official notice yesterday afternoon in the office of the county clerk of the location of a mining claim to be known as "The Columbia River Iron Lode" 600 by 1500 feet in southwest ¼ of southwest ¼ of section 25, T. 1 N, R 4 E. W J Van Schuyver and Daniel Chittenden also gave notice of the location of a claim.

The March of Improvement.—Some idea may be formed of the steady march of improvement in Portland by the following fact. By actual count there are 28 buildings either in process of construction or undergoing repairs within that portion of the city bounded by Eighth and Twelfth and Market and Harrison streets. This is certainly a very encouraging outlook, considering the early date of the season.

Death of Mrs. Emil Frank.—News has been received of the death of Mrs Emil Frank, in San Francisco, last Sunday. The lady (nee Flora Stern) was married only five months ago. The cause of her death was inflammation of the glands of the throat. Her funeral will take place to-morrow and out of respect to her memory the store of Meier & Frank in this city will be closed.

Defendant Discharged.—Charles Swede who was arrested a few days ago charged with the crime of perjury was brought before Judge Stearns yesterday accompanied by his attorney. It appearing to the satisfaction of the court that there was no testimony against the defendant the warrant for his detention, Swede was discharged from custody and the case dismissed.

Worthy of Mention.—On the arrival of the steamer Oregon at San Francisco with the body of the lamented Commodore Connor not a "runner" or "hackdriver" boarded the ship or solicited a passenger until the body was removed. Such thoughtfulness is seldom shown by any class of men and is deserving of public recognition.

Postponed.—Miss Witherell's benefit will be postponed from Friday the 2d till Monday, 5th. Tickets good for that evening. Box sheet open on Thursday April 1st, at 10 A.M., at Morse's Palace of Art.

Courtesies.—Mr Charles Hughes, the efficient and courteous purser of the steamer Geo. W. Elder, will accept editorial thanks for favors received.

Personal.—J J Owen may be consulted for a short time concerning his remedy for the "evils of over population," at room 2 Neale house, 205 Second street.

Severe Accident.—Monday afternoon while some workmen were engaged in preparing a blast at the quarry on the river bank near the White House an overhanging rock which had been loosened by heavy rains fell and buried under it two men Michael McClary and James Gallagher. It was thought at first that the men were crushed to death. Their fellow laborers went to work with a will, removed the debris and extricated the sufferers. No medical assistance being obtainable in the neighborhood the men were conveyed to St. Vincent's Hospital. Gallagher was found to have his right hip severely fractured and to have sustained several bruises about the head and shoulders. His wounds were dressed and the fracture reduced by the attending physician Dr Jones. His chances for recovery under the gentle care of the Sisters are favorable. Gallagher resides in the north part of the city, has a wife and three small children and is a sober industrious man. He was resting well late last night. McClary sustained a painful scalp wound about eight inches long on the top of the head and other slight bruises but is not confined to his bed on account of them.

Temperance Lodge Incorporated.—Yesterday afternoon articles were filed in the county clerk's office and in the office of secretary of state incorporating the Lodge of Independent Order of Good Samaritans and Daughters of Samaria. The incorporators are Charles Miller, Wm Smith and W. H Hunter.

Died on the Passage.—A little boy aged about six years whose parents were among the steerage passengers on the steamer Elder died Monday afternoon just before the steamer crossed the bar. The disease was inflammation of the lungs. The body was brought to this port for interment.

For Eastern Oregon.—Mr H F Suksdorf supervisor of census will leave this morning for a visit to eastern Oregon. He expects to visit every county seat east of the Cascades, for the purpose of selecting and appointing enumerators. He expects to be absent about two weeks.

No Applications.—We are informed by Mr H F Suksdorf supervisor of census that he has as yet received no applications for enumerators from the counties of Coos Curry Josephine and Lake. He says he should like very much to hear from those counties at an early day.

Mail.—The steamer Elder, which arrived here yesterday evening brought 109 canvas sacks of mail and 9 pouches. It gave the P O clerks lively work to distribute the mail, but they did it not with their little hatchets but with celerity and certainty.

Willamettes Reception To-night.—The members of Willamette No 1, will give their friends and guests a rare chance to enjoy themselves this evening at the hall on Morrison St. There will be excellent music good order and a generally agreeable time.

A M E. Zion Pastorate.—The congregation of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church which has been without a pastor since May last will probably be supplied with a minister by the conference which meets in San Francisco April 17th.

Circuit Court.—The state circuit court has been in session for 44 days. During that time 84 juries have been empanneled and 334 witnesses summoned.

Modesty.

Modesty is to a woman what the delicate bloom is to the peach—its greatest beauty, but once gone no human power can restore it. Many modest women suffer in silence for years with the most painful affections of the delicate vital organs of the body rather than to impart the knowledge of their sufferings to a physician. This great army of martyrs will be rejoiced to know that at last a purely vegetable and harmless remedy has been discovered which cures immediately all diseases and weakness of the kidney and bladder no matter of how long standing or of what nature. It is the wonderful OREGON KIDNEY TEA which is sold by all druggists and challenges the world.

EDUCATION VERSUS CRIME

To the Editor of The Oregonian

Now that the public mind is very much [illegible] educational matters it is entirely appropriate for those who have the taxes to pay and property to protect to have a few stubborn facts laid before them concerning education and crime. The great majority of people [illegible] to ize [illegible] ... ratio of illiteracy to crime.

This subject has been very carefully and thoroughly investigated in different countries, [illegible] state authorities and by penal and reformatory institutions.

The facts and figures gathered from these various sources speak more eloquently from education [illegible] than any words that I could utter. I therefore submit them.

It appears that less than 1 per cent of the population of the city of New York [illegible] per cent of the criminals [illegible] of the crimes. Or one in [illegible] criminals [illegible] the one among those who are educated there is but one criminal out of every twenty seven persons thus showing that the chances for crime are among those who cannot read and write are nine times as much as among the educated.

In the state of New York it was found that a person unable to read and write is six times as likely to commit crimes as one who is educated.

In Massachusetts it was found that a none the illiterates one in twenty committed crime and among those having a greater or less degree of education there was one criminal to every one hundred and twenty.

Edwin D Mansfield LL D a very careful writer says, after an examination of the prison records of the country, that in the middle states crime is are eight-fold as many among the illiterate as among the educated, in the central west it is thirteen fold, and in the west and Pacific states it is ten fold.

In making a practical application of these facts to New York and Pennsylvania he takes ten thousand of their population. Out of this number there are four hundred illiterates. Out of the whole ten thousand forty were criminals and out of the forty criminals thirty five came from the four hundred illiterates, while five of them have some degree of education. His own language from a paper in the report of the commissioner of education for 1872 reads: "What then is the practical result? Because four hundred persons out of ten thousand have been kept totally ignorant the county or municipality has seven times as many criminals as it need have and seven times as much expense and evil of all kinds resulting from it."

In a report of the committee on education of the New York city council of political reform presented December 1873 it is stated that in France from 1867 to 1869 one half of the inhabitants could neither read nor write and that this half furnished ninety five per cent of the persons arrested for crimes.

"In the New England states only seven per cent of the inhabitants above ten years of age can neither read nor write yet eighty per cent of the crime in those states is committed by this small minority."

I have many more facts and figures of a similar nature at hand, which might be arranged to demonstrate the same sad expensive truth namely that ignorance and crime are very intimately connected. But it seems that enough has been said to convince the most skeptical that money, judiciously expended for the thorough education of the masses of the people is the most profitable investment any people can make. It is strange indeed that in the face of these facts of which any one may learn who takes the pains to investigate a single person is found opposing a tax for the education of all the people. Wise and far seeing statesmen guided by the experiences of the last few years in this country, cannot fail to mark that the dangers threatening the free institutions of this nation lie in the two extremes of wealth and poverty. No one can deny looking at the matter in the light of the marked tendencies of the last twenty years that the vast wealth of this young and vigorous nation is gravitating to the hands of the few massing itself in immense and powerful corporations, leaving a large class of people more or less at their mercy. Deny it who will yet the facts and figures show that as a general thing it is the ignorant and uneducated who are walking in the vale of poverty. It is from this class, chafing under real or imaginary wrongs, inflamed, deceived and led by designing men, that we may look for the breaking forth of the volcano.

We can already hear, at no great distance either the rumblings of discontent among those who claim to be workingmen. In fact our sister state, in her great metropolis is this very moment threatened with riot and blood shed her citizens lie down upon their couches at night not knowing what dire calamity by the hand of the infuriated mob may befall them before the dawning of the morning. Whence I ask come these murmurings of discontent? Come they from the educated or the uneducated? I leave the reader to answer for himself promising soon a brief statement showing the relation of illiteracy and pauperism. L J POWELL

CITY HOMESTEAD.

THE LAND IN THIS ENTERPRISE LIES adjoining the city and is only from ten to fifteen minutes walk from the court house, and a less distance than that from one of the best public schools in the city. It is divided into

One Thousand and Twenty-Four Lots,

Fifty by one hundred feet in size with streets sixty feet wide. Two hundred of these lots will be reserved for those who desire to improve and build this summer and fall. These lots will be sold on the same liberal terms that are offered in the Homestead proper.

Price.

All lots will be sold for $100 each payable in instalments of $5 per month or the small sum of 16⅔ cents per day. No interest will be charged, and a good and sufficient Bond for Deed will be given upon the payment of the first installment of $5, and a Warranty Deed upon receipt of last installment, both without expense to purchaser.

Appreciation of Values.

By reference to The Oregonian of Feb 15th it will be found that city property has advanced twenty five per cent during the past year. As there has been no excitement the rise is wholly attributable to the increasing immigration and the growing confidence inspired by our numerous railroad enterprises and the development of our many natural resources that have hitherto slumbered for lack of energetic men to develop them.

It is True,

That of all real estate investments the homestead plan is the best and safest, as all who invest are interested in making the whole property more valuable. To illustrate: Suppose A builds a house on his lot, and B owns a lot adjoining. B gets the benefit of A's improvement while A is not injured thereby. This philosophy will apply to the entire property.

We have donated a lot to each of the principal churches for church purposes.

In addition to the above two lots are set apart for public school purposes.

Division.

The division of this property will take place when the lots are all sold or in any event not later than the 28th February, 1881,

at the Mechanics Pavilion commencing at 10 o'clock A M public notice of which will be given by publication in two principal journals in the State.

It will be made in the manner decided upon by a majority of the purchasers in the Homestead. Parties interested may appoint proxies to act for them if they desire to do so. Parties who do not attend at the time of the division either in person or by proxy will be bound by the plan settled upon by the majority of those who do so attend.

It is suggested by the purchasers that division might be made by placing the number of each lot and block in a wheel or box and the name of each party interested in the homestead in another—then a name will be drawn from one and a number from the other and the lot so drawn deeded to the person whose name is so drawn when all payments are made.

All but the first installment must be paid at the Banking house of Ladd & Tilton in the city of Portland.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 31, 1880.

THE SALMON LICENSE ACT.

Yesterday, in answer to an inquiry, THE OREGONIAN gave extracts from the law requiring licenses to be obtained for taking salmon, and spoke of that law as being in force. Since then our attention has been called to a decision rendered on the subject last December by Judge Bellinger, which declares null the license provision of the act. The decision was rendered at a time when the editor of this journal was absent from the state, and therefore was not noted by him. To Judge Bellinger we are indebted for a copy of the decision, which we print below. Under this decision, unless it be reversed by the supreme court, fishermen will not be held liable to pay the license. Let it be observed, however, that the statute prohibiting the taking of salmon at certain times, forbidding the use of nets with meshes smaller than a certain size, etc., are in full force and must be observed. We append Judge Bellinger's decision.

State of Oregon vs J. W. McGowan.

SYLLABUS.

VOID ACT. The legislature of Oregon, 1878, passed an act to create the office of fish commissioner for the Columbia river, and to encourage hatching houses thereon. Section 6 of the act authorized a license tax and authorized the commissioner to collect the same and pay it to such person, or persons, or companies, as should furnish satisfactory evidence that they had actually hatched salmon with which the Columbia river was stocked. Held that this section attempts a delegation of the legislative power of making appropriations and is void. Held further that the provisions of the act authorizing a license tax have reference to said section 6, that they related to the objects provided for in such section and must fall with it.

BELLINGER, J.

The defendant having been indicted under the act of the legislature of 1878, creating the office of fish commissioner, for taking salmon in the waters of the Columbia river without first obtaining license therefor, demurs to the indictment upon the ground that the act in question is in conflict with the constitution of the state and void.

Some of the objections to the law urged upon the argument of the demurrer involve questions which belong to the legislative judgment. With in the limitations prescribed in the constitution the legislative will is supreme. The wisdom or propriety of the legislative act is not a matter for consideration or review by the courts. It is only when there is a conflict between the act of the legislature and the fundamental law of the state or general government that, the courts will in the enforcement of the higher law, treat the legislative act as a nullity. But the conflict must be apparent to justify so grave a responsibility.

Section 1 of the act in question provides for the appointment of a fish commissioner to hold office for two years and until his successor is appointed.

Section 2 provides for a license tax of from $2 to $50, to be paid annually by owners of fishing boats and by persons engaged in fishing.

Section 6 of the act is as follows:

"Sec. 6. All moneys received for licenses herein referred to, excepting the fees for issuing the same, shall constitute a fund and be exclusively applied to the assistance of a hatching house or houses on the said Columbia river or its tributaries. Any person or persons, or incorporated company who shall furnish satisfactory evidence to said fish commissioner that a hatching house or houses has or have been established by such person, or persons, or company, and have actually hatched salmon with which said Columbia river is or has been stocked and supplied, the said commissioner shall forthwith pay over to such person or persons, or company, the said funds; provided if there be two or more of such hatching houses in operation by different persons or companies, then such funds shall be distributed pro rata according to the number of hatched salmon."

The fund arising from this license tax is placed at the disposal of the commissioner, with only the restriction that he is to pay it to such persons as shall have hatched salmon and placed them in the Columbia river or its tributaries. Or, to speak more accurately, he is thus to apply the fund if he applies it all. The fund is of uncertain amount, and the object is a contingent one. An entire revenue is handed over to the commissioner, to be by him dealt with in his own discretion, subject to the restriction spoken of. It does not appear that there was a hatching house in existence at the date of the act, nor does the act provide for their establishment.

A "hatching house" is not defined in the act, further than that it is to be a place where young salmon are hatched with which the Columbia river is supplied. If an establishment hatches more than one fish the commissioner is authorized to turn over to that establishment all the revenues which this tax laid upon the fishing interests produces, unless there shall be more than one of such establishments.

While the courts will not "run a race of opinions" with the legislature upon the expediency of such a statute, yet its effect is to be considered in determining what the power it attempts to confer is, and whether it is within the reason of the provision giving to the legislature the exclusive power to make appropriations.

Mr. Story says that "the power to direct and control appropriations constitutes a most useful and salutary check upon profusion and extravagance, as well as upon corrupt influences and public peculation," that this power is given to congress "to secure regularity, punctuality and fidelity in the disbursement of public money."

The money derived under this act is "public money." It is money raised by, what Mr. Sedgwick declares to be, "that tremendous power of eminent domain, at the foot of which, so far as uncontrolled, every citizen lies prostrate." To guard against extravagance, "corrupt influence" and "public peculation"—to secure regularity, punctuality and fidelity in its disbursement, the constitution has directed that the legislature shall appropriate it—shall, if we keep these objects in view, set it apart specifically to specified objects—shall so dispose of it as to make it at least reasonably certain that it will not be exposed to waste or plunder. There has been no such appropriation by the legislature. That body has undertaken to delegate this trust to a single hand, to leave it to the judgment and fidelity of the fish commissioner as to whether there shall be any application of this fund, and if so, to whom it shall be paid, in what sums and at what times. The act provides opportunities for peculation, for corrupt intrigue and collusion, and for all those mischiefs which the constitution has in view, in requiring appropriations by the legislature, and it offers as well the temptation to these abuses.

There is no distinction between the power attempted to be delegated in this case and that of delegating to a particular person the power to receive all the revenues of the state and apply them in his own judgment to defray the current expenses of the state government. In either case the act is an attempt to delegate a legislative power, and is void.

Subdivision 4 of article 9 of the state constitution provides that no money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law. Under a similar provision in the constitution of the United States it has been held that public moneys at the disposal of the postmaster general, whether technically in the treasury or not, the spirit of the provision applies to them and ought to be faithfully observed in their expenditure. The same doctrine is applicable in the case of the money in the hands of the fish commissioner.

I conclude that section 6 of the act in question is in conflict with subdivision 4 of article 9 of the state constitution, and void.

Whether section 2 of the act which provided for the license must be adjudged void because of its association with the provision referred to remains for consideration.

A statute may be void in part and valid as to the remainder. If it is manifest that the legislature intended to accomplish two or more objects the fact that it has exceeded its power as to one of such objects should not defeat the other. But if the act intends to accomplish a single object, if, when the unconstitutional provision is rejected, the remainder is incomplete and incapable of being carried out in accordance with the legislative intent, the whole must fall. In his work on constitutional limitations Mr. Cooley thus states the rule to be applied in cases of this kind:

"It must be obvious in any case where part of an act is set aside as unconstitutional, that it is unsafe to indulge in the same extreme presumptions in support of the remainder that are allowable in support of a complete act when some cause of invalidity is suggested to the whole of it. In the latter case, we know that the legislature designed the whole act to have effect, and we should sustain it if possible; in the former we do not know that the legislature would have been willing that a part of the act should be sustained if the remainder were held void, and there is generally a presumption more or less strong to the contrary. While, therefore, in the one case the act should be sustained unless the invalidity is clear, in the other the whole should fall unless it is manifest the portion not opposed to the constitution can stand by itself, and that in the legislative intent it was not to be controlled or modified in its construction and effect by the part which was void." (Cooley in constitutional sections 179, note 2.)

In this case it is so manifest that the legislature had but a single object in view in passing this law, the stocking of the Columbia river and its tributaries with salmon by means of hatching houses established therefor. The license provisions of the act have reference to this object. It is clear that the legislature was controlled by the objects provided for in section 6 in the enactment of the remaining provisions of the act. This is made more certain by the fact that the same legislature at the same time enacted an independent statute regulating salmon fisheries on the Columbia and its tributaries, which contains a number of distinct provisions to regulate the taking of fish and to promote the fishing interest in these waters.

The provisions of the act creating a fish commissioner which requires licenses must fall with those provisions which delegate to such commissioner the power to make appropriations of the fund resulting from the license tax.

The demurrer to the indictment will be sustained.

Swallowing POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Foetid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS of CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is the most important medical discovery since vaccination. It is sold by all Druggists, or delivered by D. B. DEWEY & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y., at $1.50 a package. To clubs, six packages for $7.50. Dr. Wei De Meyer's Treatise is sent free to anybody.

DRY GOODS!

The year 1880 promises, from present indications, to be the most prosperous season Oregon has experienced since its admission to the family of States. Immigration will pour in, railroads will be built, bridges erected, and localities hitherto inaccessible will be connected with the business centers and distributing depots of the State. This will augment business and require large supplies of merchandise to meet the changed condition of things.

We have anticipated the increased demand that will spring up for all classes of goods, and our purchases of

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.
